

ADOBE CREEK COLLABORATIVE

Progress on Adobe Creek Reach 5

For nearly three years now, work has been progressing by an informal collaborative organization to achieve consensus on a design for the future of this stretch of Adobe Creek just downstream of Edith Avenue. The collaborative is composed of representatives from the Santa Clara Valley Water District, creekside residents of both Los Altos Hills and Los Altos, town representatives from both towns, as well as four government agencies from whom permits will be required. Tentative agreement has now been reached on a conceptual design for the future of this part of the creek.

Known as Alternative 8, the design is intended to correct or control erosion and flooding problems and enhance the environment in a manner that is acceptable to all the stakeholders. Improvements are scheduled to be constructed in 2008 if no more serious hurdles are encountered during detailed design and the government funding is forthcoming. More information about this effort and the current plan may be seen on the collaborative's website at <http://www.lahopenspace.com/Adobe5>.
